Concurrent Programming in Erlang

How did you get along with the previous exercise, putting into practice the use of exceptions in the frequency server? Reflect on the solutions that you have built using exceptions.

What other approaches could you have used?

Do you think that this is the best way of solving the problem? If so, why; if not, what alternative approach would you use, and why?

© University of Kent